Bangladesh Ambassador to the United States Mohammad Ziauddin gave welcome address while messages of the Hon'ble President, Prime Minister, Foreign Minister and the State Minister for Foreign Affairs were read out at the function.

Ambassador Ziauddin in his brief statement said the 17th March is a glorious and important day in our nation's history as Bangladesh emerged as an independent and sovereign nation because of Bangabandhu's relentless struggle, uncompromising leadership and sublime sacrifice.

In 1996 Prime Minister Sheikh Hasina declared the 17th March as National Children's Day marking Bangabandhu's unflinching love and affection for children and to build up our new generation imbued with the ideals of the Father of the Nation.
